CXR50 Functional Training System

Whether you're a functional training enthusiast or just looking to build strength for the activities of daily living, the newest addition to the Matrix family can help you sculpt a lean, strong physique in the convenience of your own home. Choose our premium functional training system for easy connection to an unmatched range of accessories, an endless variety of efficient strength and cardio exercises, a signature workout program that delivers transformational results, and a sleek, smart design that fits your space beautifully.

Suspension Anchor
Suspension anchor allows for hundreds of bodyweight and gravity-based exercises, plus progressions for everyone from beginners to experts.

Training Bar
Included weighted training bar takes a wide range of functional movements and traditional exercises like curls and squats to the next level when used with resistance bands.

Resistance Bands
Included resistance bands work vertically and horizontally to provide resistance in all phases of movement.

Base Anchors
Solid base anchors offer unique attachment points for resistance bands, intensifying strength training.

Space-efficient Design
Sleek, fully contained design features a footprint just slightly larger than a treadmill.

Pull-up Bar
Pull-up bar allows for a range of bodyweight exercises.

Power Grid
Power grid provides a wide range of attachment points for resistance bands and other accessories to accommodate an endless variety of exercises.

Smart Storage Chalkboard
Included smart storage chalkboard keeps your device in view and offers a convenient place to make workout notes.

Foam Roller
Included foam roller relaxes sore muscles while improving mobility and range of motion.

Activity Base
Durable activity base protects your floor and includes a non-slip surface for stability during intense workouts. Progression lines help users maintain proper form and easily adjust difficulty.
